----- X

AVA J. MOPPER, declares the following pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1746, and subject to the penalties of perjury:

1. I am the Director of the Office of Related and Contractual Services of the New York City Department of Education ("DOE"). As Director, I am responsible for, among other things, the development of Request for Proposals ("RFP") for the award of Special Education Related Services and Assessment Contracts to agency providers, in addition to the administration of such contracts. My office also functions as a liaison to the agencies with whom DOE maintains such contracts.

2. I submit this affidavit in support of the municipal defendants' opposition to plaintiffs' application for injunctive relief seeking to enjoin DOE to make payments for special education related services allegedly provided by plaintiffs, Gross Care Inc. ("Gross Care") and Sumner Place LLC d/b/a Sumner Health Providers ("Sumner"), from January 9, 2008 until the end of the school year.

3. The statements made herein are based on my personal knowledge, review of documents, and conversations with current personnel of DOE.

Special Education Services: Related Services Overview

4. DOE is mandated by federal and state law to evaluate students and to provide Special Education Related Services ("Related Services") tailored to a child's unique needs, by means of an Individualized Education Program or IEP. The IEP is a collaboratively developed plan based on information provided by parents, assessment professionals, instructional personnel, related services providers and, when appropriate, the student. In New York State, the group responsible for developing the IEP is referred to as either the Committee on Special Education ("CSE") or IEP Team. It is the IEP Team that initially determines a student's eligibility for special education services.

5. Based upon a student's needs and the extent to which those needs affect his or her educational performance, the IEP Team may recommend that Related Services be provided. Students are eligible for Related Services only when it is clear that the student's needs are greater than can be addressed in their primary educational setting; the services are necessary for the student to benefit from his/her primary educational setting; and the absence of such services would adversely affect the student's educational performance. It is the IEP Team that determines the frequency and duration of the eligible student's Related Services.

6. Related Services include, but are not limited to, counseling, hearing education services, school health services, speech/language therapy, occupational therapy and physical therapy. When Related Services are provided to a student whose primary program is general education they are considered a supplementary aid and service. It is DOE's goal, to the greatest extent possible, to have students with disabilities attend the schools they would normally attend if they did not require special education services to address their learning needs.

Providing Related Services

7. Currently DOE provides these mandated Related Services to school age students (ages 5-21) through a three tier hierarchy. Whenever possible, DOE employs its own staff to provide services to students in schools during the school day. Where DOE is unable to meet the mandate with its in-house staff, it will contract with agencies, through the RFP process for the provision of Related Services. Finally, in cases when neither DOE staff nor a contracted vendor is able to provide the required services, DOE issues a Related Service Authorization ("RSA") to parents which enable them to secure the services of an appropriately licensed, independent provider at public expense.

8. Contracts for Related Services are awarded to vendors by specific discipline, e.g., physical therapy, occupational therapy, within each of the ten CSE regions which encompass all thirty-two school districts in New York City (the "City") as well as Citywide District 75, which consists of approximately 23,000 special needs students.<sup>1</sup> Each CSE region is assigned a Chairperson to ensure compliance with the student's IEP. A copy of DOE's Contact Information for the ten CSE Chairpersons is annexed hereto as Exhibit A.

9. Through the RFP process, DOE tries to limit the number of contracts awarded to any one provider to no more than five districts in five separate regions for each specific Related Service. Limiting awards in this fashion ensures a wide range of contracted vendors dispersed throughout the City, provides greater flexibility in DOE's ability to secure a nearby replacement vendor in the event a contracted vendor cannot provide the service, and promotes competition by assuring that the awards are not limited to only very large vendors. It is DOE's intent to create a contractual hierarchy of services and thereby decrease its reliance on RSAs.

10. A complete list of the contracted vendors currently providing Related Services to school age students is annexed hereto as Exhibit B. These contracts run for a three year term through August 31, 2010 and replace those that DOE awarded in 2004 and which expired on August 31, 2007.

11. Brooklyn Community Management, LLC ("BCM") was initially considered for the award of the Hearing Education Services contract for Citywide District 75 students in Region 6 (See Exhibit 2 of the Lebovits Declaration ("Lebovits Dec"). In Region 6, an award was made to Stivright Inc. (Hearing Education Services in English) and FTH Audiology and Speech Pathology (Hearing Education Services in Yiddish) in District 22. (Exhibit B, p. 42 of 196). Students in the other Region 6 districts, in addition to Citywide District 75 students in Region 6, can obtain Hearing Education Services from any of the other vendors awarded a contract for this discipline, including a firm known as Related Services Associates. Id. All Region 6 Related Services contracts for school age children are listed on Exhibit B, pp. 37, 39, 41, 44, 47 and 49-50 of 196.

12. In addition to their specific region/district awards, Related Services providers are required by the contract's terms to provide services to other districts within a region, as well as districts in other regions on an as-needed basis. Thus, when a contracted provider is unable to provide services to students, DOE may assign students to another contracted provider within the region and failing that, can assign students to a contractor from any other region. RSAs are issued to the parent by the CSE only after DOE fully exhausts these assignment options. Essentially, an RSA functions as an agreement between the parent and the independent provider which allows the parent to obtain the required service from an independent provider of his or her choice when neither DOE staff nor a contracted vendor can provide the required service.

13. To help parents locate an independent provider, DOE provides them with municipality listings of independent service providers who have registered with DOE.<sup>2</sup> As an example of the registry's scope, a list of all registered independent providers in the Borough of Brooklyn for three Related Service disciplines is annexed hereto as Exhibit C. However, parents are not bound by the registry and are free to locate their own independent provider.

14. Moreover, contract vendors may provide RSA Related Services to any student for any discipline in any district other than the district and discipline the contract covers. Therefore, when BCM was under contract to the DOE to provide speech therapy services to District 75 students in Regions 5 and 6 from 2004-2007, its therapists were also able to provide other Related Services through RSA agreements with the exception of the speech therapy services it was under contract to provide in the two regions.

15. In order to initiate an RSA approval, the parent and the independent provider must submit to the CSE a completed RSA-2 Form, a copy of which is annexed hereto as Exhibit D. The RSA is an agreement between the parent and the independent provider; only the therapist's name is required and not the agency through which a therapist may be paid. Independent providers are not required to be employees of an agency and providers who are not employees of an agency are paid directly by DOE. Additionally, independent providers must be permanently licensed or certified by the New York State Education Department and fingerprinted by DOE prior to receiving authorization to provide services. Id. RSAs expire at the end of the school year and are not automatically renewed.

16. Both Gross Care and Sumner submitted names of therapists for inclusion in the DOE registry. Copies of the respective companies Independent Related Service Provider Application forms ("applications") are collectively annexed hereto as Exhibit E. The applications provide the same contact name, Lucille Schinkel, and contact number, (718) 336-9500 for both Gross Care and Sumner. Additionally, the names of the therapists listed by discipline for each firm are identical.

The SCI Investigation of BCM

17. Prior to the award of the 2007 Related Service contracts detailed in Exhibit B, I received a report prepared by Richard J. Condon, Special Commissioner of Investigation for the New York City School District ("SCI")<sup>3</sup> dated July 6, 2007, regarding an

<sup>3</sup> The Office of the Special Commissioner of Investigation has broad authority to investigate fraud, misconduct, conflicts of interest, and other wrongdoing within the New York City School District. SCI

SCI investigation into BCM. Lebovitz Dec., Exhibit 3. The report, which cited billing irregularities and apparent misrepresentations by BCM, recommended that BCM "should be found to be unqualified as a vendor for the DOE." Id. This report was brought to my attention at virtually the same time that Related Services contract award decisions were being made.

18. Accordingly, in conjunction with DOE's Office of Legal Services and the Division of Contracts and Purchasing, it was determined to exclude BCM from the list of vendors submitted to the Chancellor for approval of awards for Related Service contracts. As services for students were about to start, it was imperative for us to alert all contracted vendors and the CSE Chairpersons that, until further notice, BCM was deemed ineligible to provide any services to students either as a contract agency or as the agency through which RSA providers would be reimbursed. Therefore, my office issued an email on August 17, 2007 apprising the field of BCM's status. Lebovits Dec., Exhibit 5.

19. Although Mr. Lebovits was fully aware of the investigation into BCM, and aware that, as of August 17, 2007, BCM was prohibited from providing any Related Services in any capacity, Mr. Lebovits took it upon himself to, in effect, avoid the consequence of the DOE's directive that BCM would no longer be eligible to provide services to DOE students by transferring the BCM therapists to two other affiliated companies, Gross Care and Sumner. See Lebovits Dec. at ¶ 35. Mr. Lebovits bypassed the DOE entirely without any regard to the effect of the on-going investigation on his ability to provide services to students if he transferred his employees to another company under his control. Nor to my knowledge, did Mr. Lebovits advise the parents to contact their CSE to discuss the impact of BCM's ineligibility on his ability to provide RSA Related Services through Gross Care and Sumner.

20. Apparently, Mr. Lebovits seeks to evade DOE's directive deeming BCM ineligible to provide any services to students either as an agency or RSA provider, since many Sumner and Gross Care's therapists are actually BCM staff. A comparison of the names of the therapists provided by BCM in its 2004 contract proposal to the names listed in Gross Care's and Sumner's registry applications (Exhibit E) revealed that:

- of the twenty names submitted by BCM in its 2004 contract proposal as "current staff providing occupational therapy," nine of these therapists are also listed as therapists for Sumner and/or Gross Care;
- of the thirteen names submitted by BCM in its 2004 contract proposal as "current staff providing speech therapy in English," nine of these therapists are also listed as therapists for Sumner and/or Gross Care; and
- of the sixteen names submitted by BCM in its 2004 contract proposal as "current staff providing physical therapy," eight of these therapists are also listed as therapists for Sumner and/or Gross Care.

21. Copies of the 2004 BCM staff listings for occupational therapy, speech therapy and physical therapy, with names of therapists who appear on the Sumner and Gross Care registry applications highlighted, are annexed as Exhibit F. All of these therapists can be paid directly by DOE for Related Services they are providing pursuant to an RSA agreement.

22. Although Mr. Lebovits claims that Gross Care and Sumner are providing services to 893 children (Lebovits Dec. at ¶ 36) even a cursory examination of the names provided in Exhibit 10 of the Lebovits Dec. reveals significant duplication of names, as many children receive multiple services. For example, of the one hundred nine (109) services listed under Sumner (Exhibit 10, pp. 1-3), there are actually only eight-two (82) individual students receiving services. At this time, the local CSEs have not been able to fully confirm the accuracy of the information provided by Mr. Lebovits regarding the number of students receiving services through independent providers employed by Gross Care and Sumner.

23. Plaintiffs' argument that failure to pay the agencies will halt services to these children is speculative. The individual therapists have not been precluded from providing the services or from being paid directly by the DOE for the RSA work they perform. The RSA agreement is between the parent and the therapist, and not the agency. Should a therapist for any reason decide not to provide services pursuant to an RSA, the parent retains the ability to locate another provider.
